FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

I feel proud to present before you all, latest issue of eSpectra, KLSGIT's flagship bi-monthly newsletter for the period July-August 2021, showcasing various activities and events of our nearly four-decade old institute. The institute is quickly adapting itself to cope-up with post-covid situation by completely vaccinating all faculty and students and conducting offline classes and exams. The fresh semester is looking promising with excellent placement right in the beginning of new academic year. Not to be complacent with respect to pandemic, institute conducted five successful vaccination drives.

A new chapter began in our institute with the inauguration of cut-section of MIG-21 jet engine in Aeronautical Dept. and Electrical Charging Station, adjacent to Electrical Dept, for charging electrical vehicles in our institute, in-line with GOI's green initiative and e-vehicles.

Many more events which happened during past two months are showcased in the present volume of our eSpectra. I look forward to your valuable feedback and comments regarding our various endeavours and outreach activities.

Dr J. K. Kittur

With regards,

Principal, KLS GIT

Influential Individual Contributor and Lead in Professional Services ; Client Services divisions with responsibilities for Pilot Projects/new initiatives, Data Integration and Migration projects, Product Support. Effective in working with different stakeholders across Geographies, Cultures and Divisions and act as a bridge between Technical and Business Users.

About myself

I am Somnath Kolekar – GIT BE (E&C) 2006 Graduate and also an MBA from Savitribai Phule Pune University. I currently work in SAS R&D Centre, Pune supporting enterprise global customers.

My growing up years

My childhood was little struggle due to financial constraints that every lower middle-class family go through and rural background. I completed my schooling in Marathi medium from B. K. Model High school and 11th and 12th from G.S. Science college.

Memories at GIT

I learnt about what real life can be in GIT. After having excellent academic records (10th – 90%,12th: PCM: 96.33, Maths 100/100 in both 10th and 12th),

Alumni Special Feature

I failed in multiple subjects' multiple times during my engineering course. I was resilient so I bounced back. During the college, I was emotionally weak and was manipulated by my close group which took my self-confidence to the lowest before I got it back after Campus Selection at TCS.

At this point, I do not have any regret or bad feeling about that close group. Instead, I am grateful to them that they helped in preparing life after Academics – which is more challenging and testing.

In short, 4 years at GIT made me ready to face bigger challenges in life.

My professional growth so far

I worked in almost all roles in Software Industry for example as BI developer, L2, L3 Support engineer, in individual and lead role.

After working in a big company like TCS, I worked in a start-up company that gave me a lot of hands-on experience - on how company is built from the scratch. There was no physical office when I gave interview. In fact, I gave interview in one of director's library.

I was 7th employee of the company and first of the services division and constantly interacted with CEO, CTO, COO and was directly reporting to India head. The company grew tenfold when I left to join one the best company on this planet: SAS.

I have been working at SAS for last 7 years and this is more than my dream company. I get to learn many things, explore and implement my ideas, work with greatest minds. I was able to experience how great companies work when I visited company main campus in Cary, North Carolina (USA).

About *The Indian Ikigai

First 15 years of corporate experience gave me material stability with own home in Pune, car, lovely family and so on. However, there was something missing in my life. Due to Covid-19 situation and subsequent work from home, I got more time to sit, relax and introspect about my journey in life. That introspection became in-depth when I enrolled for intensive Coaching training program – which is generally done by L&D or HR professionals. That gave me lot of insights into what I was missing starting with my passion to learn and teach.

About The Indian Ikigai continued

Before joining TCS, my first job, I taught Electronics to Diploma and BCA Students for few months and that experience was so much fun. I started experimenting to find my Ikigai. I ran my first Marathon, I wrote my first book, started with DSLR Photography, I started Coaching and Training firm to fulfil my passion of teaching, helping students and youth during week-ends and after office-hours. The book was to reach wider audience to share my insights while finding my own Ikigai. The book was born to help anyone to find their WHY, their life purpose and live life that is authentic to their self.

So, yes as a passion, I help people live regret-free life. I am also certified life coach, happiness coach and mindfulness coach. I help students and youth to develop timeless skills and become lifelong learner so that they thrive even in technology driven complex world full of bots, robots and machines.

Basic professional and personal qualities that a fresh graduate needs to possess

My experience: Technology keeps on changing but the problem to be solved always exists.

Apart from mastering their craft (i.e. really good in their stream/study or branch), they need to start developing holistic profile consisting of strong/effective communication skills, emotional and social intelligence, problem-solving and decision making, time and priority management and so on. My experience says that though hard-skills or technical skills are very important, it is human skills that can make or break our personal or professional life. Following passion is worth and my preference will be: First real-ism before hero-ism.

Also, I insist that the graduates must take responsibility for their life, job, career, relationships, money and happiness. No one else is going to take that responsibility for you. Your life, your happiness, your responsibility. World does not care.

We as an Indian society are shy when it comes to asking for help or express. Here is what I found (yes – these are my lines – my invention): “Suppression is bandage. Expression is Freedom”

So, start finding an opportunity for Self-Expression and just deep dive into it.

Alumni Special Feature

Advice to current GITans

Focus on developing cognitive abilities and not just intellectual ability. Develop skills that you require even after 50 years. For example: How to learn and unlearn.

Head and Heart in harmony = Happiness for Human beings.

Do not postpone happiness. Do not postpone working towards your passion. Have one physical sport or routine which makes your heart beats little faster and keep you energized/motivated when things do not go the way you planned.

Failures are other side of the success. Both are required to appreciate beauty of human life.

Finally, remember – while you are making plans for life, life has also plans for you. Trust the Universe, be more open to it. Universe supports life. We are life.

Oh wait! I am sharing my life lessons in my second book titled: A Compass and Atlas for Life Self-Exploration, Self-Discovery and Self-Awareness: A Manual

To be published in September, 2021.

I wish you all the best in your personal and professional journey. Experience/Enjoy each moment of the journey and not just the milestones and destination. Life exists in the moment. Each moment is unique and given to us only once. Live regret-free life.

Workshop on optimisation of linkedin profile held

BELAGAVI, DHNS: KLS Gogte Institute of Technology (GIT) Department of MBA conducted a workshop on 'Optimisation of LinkedIn profile' by Christy Francis, Lead Accounts at LinkedIn recently.

The objective of the workshop was to educate MBA students on creating opportunities to get noticed by the best recruiters in times of crisis.

Speaking on the occasion, Francis said, LinkedIn is being used for professional purposes and this is a platform that one can utilise to showcase skills, expertise, education and experience, he added.

He suggested that one can use it to build connections in the industry and to stay in touch with colleagues, past and present. It's an invaluable tool for job searches, recruitment and a way to stay up to date with industry news, enhance the professional reputation and increase the visibility of brand if one is in business.
